Introduction

- Welcome and thank you for coming in to speak with us! My name is _____ and this is _____.
- There are some things I want to cover before we get started. I am going to start by reading from this list to make sure I cover everything.
- We're interested in learning more about how people use the public library and what kinds of factors influence library use. We're also interested in what distinguishes use of library services from other services in the community.
- There are no "right" or "wrong" answers. There's nothing you can say about the library that would offend us. We're interested in hearing about your experiences, even if they're negative.
- The research team includes staff members from Worthington Libraries and also from OCLC, a not-for-profit company that works with libraries, located nearby in Dublin.
- We expect the interview to take about 1 hour, maybe a little bit less, maybe a little bit more. Let us know if you have a hard stopping time and we can keep track of that for you, so we won't go over.
- We will use what we learn for library planning purposes. We also may report our findings in professional presentations and publications. This isn't something we will release to the general public here in Worthington.
- Everything we talk about will remain completely confidential. You never will be discussed or identified by name nor will we ever share your contact details. We will interview a total of 30 people and will report what we find as part of the interview group. We may report individual quotes, identifying people only by gender and/or age range.
- I have a series of questions that I will work through. There are five broad questions, each with several follow-up questions. To be consistent, I am going to ask each question, even though you may have already answered it previously. When that happens, you may share more, or just feel free to say you feel you've already answered.
- If questions about the library come up along the way, I may ask you to hold those thoughts until the end so we can focus on your thoughts and experiences. I'd be happy to try to answer them after we finish the interview. If I don't have answers, I can arrange for someone from the library to follow up with you afterwards if you'd like.
- I may check off the questions as we go, or I may take some notes as we talk. _____ will be taking notes on a laptop. _____ won't be speaking, so feel free to focus on me for our conversation.

- Our conversation will be audio recorded for back up purposes. We currently are not recording. You can always see for yourself that we are recording when the red light on the recorder is lit up.
- The notes and the audio recording from our conversation will be stored in a secure location, which only members of the research team can access. You have been assigned an ID number that will be used on our notes and I am taking care today not to use your name while we're recording.
- There are no known risks to participating in this research. You are free to ask questions at any time. You can withdraw from participation at any time.
- Do you have any questions or concerns before we get started?
- First, let's start by signing this consent form together. This includes all the information I just went over with you. Feel free to take a bit of time to review it, if you'd like. I also have an extra copy that you may take with you.
- When we've completed the interview, I will give you a Target gift card as a token of our appreciation. I'll ask you to initial again on this form to acknowledge that you received it.
- I will ask _____ to start the recorder now.

This is Interview ID _____. Today's date is _____ and the time is _____.

Tell me how you typically use the library.

- In what ways do you use the library – for entertainment, to do research, to use technology, to get help, etc.?
- What kinds of things do you borrow?
- Do you spend time at the library, or just pass through?
- Do you come to the library by yourself, or with others? Who?
- Do you attend programs?
- Do you interact with library staff? How so?
- Do you interact with other library patrons? How so?
- How do you use the library website and catalog?
- Do you always do the same things, or do you try new things?
- How do you find out about what's new at the library?

Think about the last few times you used the library, or the library website or catalog – what surprised you? Did you notice something new?

- How did you feel about that?
- Has this changed the way you use the library?

We have some information about your activities and habits from the online questionnaire you took this summer, and I'd like to ask some questions about what you told us about some of the activities you said you do. I'm going to ask the same series of questions twice about two different activities.

You mentioned that you _____. Tell me about the most recent time you _____.

- Where did you start when deciding to _____?
- What led you to choose _____?
- What was your goal? What were you hoping to accomplish?
- Did you consider any other alternatives along the way?
- Were you satisfied with your experience _____?
- Was anything missing from your experience _____?

For a community activity:

- At any point did you think of the library when _____?
- Do you think your experience _____ would have been different at or by using the library? How so?

For a library activity:

- Do you think your experience _____ would have been different elsewhere than the library? How so?

You also mentioned that you _____. Tell me about the most recent time you _____.

- Where did you start when deciding to _____?
- What led you to choose _____?
- What was your goal? What were you hoping to accomplish?
- Did you consider any other alternatives along the way?
- Were you satisfied with your experience _____?
- Was anything missing from your experience _____?

For a community activity:

- At any point did you think of the library when _____?
- Do you think your experience _____ would have been different at or by using the library? How so?

For a library activity:

- Do you think your experience _____ would have been different elsewhere than the library? How so?

What life changes or big plans do you have in the next year? This could be a new child in the family, changes with your job or career, going to school, moving, making a big purchase, pursuing health or fitness goals, planning a vacation, pursuing a hobby, that sort of thing.

- What's prompting or motivating this change / your plans?
- Where are you in the process?
- What information do you need?
- How would you prefer to get information (online, in person, from friends/family, on my own)?
- Will the library play a part?
- In what ways might you use the library differently in the next year, as a result of this change / your plans?

We're going to switch gears a bit for the last question and I'm going to ask you to use your imagination. Please feel free to take a few moments to think before you answer.

If you had a magic wand, what would you change about the library to make it better for you and your life?

- What would you want to be able to do? See?
- How would it be different?
- What would it look like?
- Would it offer online or in-person services?

This concludes my list of questions. What else would you like to tell me about how you use the library, or anything you think it's important for us to know that you didn't get a chance to bring up?

- This concludes our interview.
- I will ask _____ to stop the recorder now.

I consent to participate in an interview as part of the research entitled, “Just Passing Through or Putting Down Roots: Differences in Public Library Engagement.” I understand that the purpose of the research study is to understand how people use the public library by identifying distinct styles of library use and factors that influence library use and determining what distinguishes use of library services from other services in the community.

I understand that the research team includes staff members from Worthington Libraries, led by Dr. Kara Reuter, and from OCLC, Inc., led by Dr. Lynn Silipigni Connaway. I understand the interview will take approximately 1 hour to complete. I understand that a member of the research team will take notes during the interview and our conversation will be audio recorded for back up purposes. I acknowledge that there are no known risks to participating in this research. I understand that I am free to ask questions or withdraw from participation at any time.

I acknowledge that all information I share will remain completely confidential and only will be used for library planning and research presentations and publications. I understand that I never will be discussed or identified by name and my contact details never will be shared. All information will be stored in a secure location, which only authorized members of the research team can access.

A copy of the research report will be available at the end of the project upon request.

I understand that I will receive a $20 Target gift card after completing the interview.
